IRON STEAMBOAT COMPANY.

Freight from Savannah to

Augusta,
BY IRON STEAMERS,
John Randolph, Lamar, and
A. Sibley.

The Iron Steamboat Company, having completed their new Steamboat, AMORY SIBLEY,
drawing less water than any Steamboat ever built for the Savannah River, and now plying on the upper part of the line, would inform the public that they are prepared to transport.

Produce & Merchandise,
with promptness and dispatch, and no detention on account of low river. Two sets of Boats arrive and depart each week.
Country merchants are informed that this route is much cheaper than any other, and are invited to try it. Freight from Northern Ports to Savannah, are as low as to any Southern Port, and the low rate of freight up the river, is a large saving to the shipper. All packages and other articles should be distinctly marked, "Iron Steamboat Company," or "C. F. Mills, Agent, Savannah," who will forward them free of commissions to Augusta, and from thence to Atlanta and Athens, or places beyond, throughout Georgia, Tennessee and Alabama.

All Freight, directed to place between Augusta and Atlanta, or Athens, will be forwarded free of commissions, provided money is left with the Agent or Treasurer, sufficient to pay Rail Road and other charges.

All Produce or other Merchandise from the interior, consigned to this company at Augusta, will be forwarded to Savannah, and from thence to any port in the United States, free of commissions, and with dispatch. All communications to be addressed to

C. F. MILLS, Agent Savannah.

W. M. ROWLAND, Agent Augusta.

IRON WORKS.

WE now inform the public that we have our new Furnaces in operation, for making BAK IRON, and are now manufacturing a good article. We shall keep a general assortment on hand, which we will sell at five cents per pound, where a lot is taken of one hundred pounds or more. Under that amount 6-1-1 cents per pound CASH. We think that we shall now be able to supply the citizens of this and the adjoining Counties, with all the Iron they may wish. The quality and price is such, that we hope our friends will be induced to purchase of us rather than go to another market. In a few days more we shall be able to turn out two thousand pounds per day.

We also have our BLAST FURNACE in operation, and are making a fine assortment of

Hollow Ware Castings,
together with various kinds of Machines such as the Hotchkiss Vertical Water Wheels, for Saw Mills, also Morris's Water Wheels, for Saw and Grist Mills, Grindstone, Barrels, Flanges, Calves, Saw Mill Cranks, and Grist Mill Spindles, Rag Irons, Shlides and Pinions for Saw Mill Carriages, Mill and Cotton Ginn Gearing of all kinds. We make the 12, 10, 8, and 6 foot wheels for Cotton Gins, Plates for Racks and Jams for Chimneys, and Sieves. We are also prepared to make Pipes of any description, all of which we will sell low for CASH, we have good workmen and feel confident that we can give general satisfaction. All orders addressed to us at Polkville, Benton County, Ala., will be punctually attended to.

GOODE & MOORE.

P. S. All persons ordering Machinery at this place, must furnish their Patterns unless we have such as will suit them.

We will exchange Iron and Castings for Bacon at Cash prices.

Twenty-five or thirty industrious men can get employment in chopping Coal Wood.

Transportation between Sa-vonah and Augusta.

THE PRESIDENT, DIRECTORS & CO.

OF THE

Steamboat Company of Georgia, between the Ports of Georgia, South Carolina, Alabama, and Tennessee, that they now possess unequalled facilities for the reception and safe and rapid transportation of merchandise from Savannah, via the river, to Augusta and the interior of the above States, having the past year built extensive, free proof, freight houses, for the protection of produce and merchandise, and the light draft

Steamer Thomas S. Metcalf and Lighters, which will enable them to forward freight, at the low stages of the river, without detention. The Iron Steamer Charlton and the Charlton will run in connection with the
T. S. Metcalf.

A press of Cortina Press has also been constructed capable of compressing 800 bales cotton per day.

The very low rates of freight, as established in 1847, will be adhered to in all stages of the river, offering inducements not surpassed by any other method of transportation.

Particular attention will be paid to the condition of goods entrusted to our care, and to freight engagements, which will be made on the lowest terms.

Merchandise, in all cases, imported or exported, will be received and forwarded free of commissions, and freight for the Georgia Rail Road for Athens and Atlanta, and all Stations on the Western & Atlantic Rail Road can be paid at those Stations.

Produce from the Georgia Rail Road will also be forwarded free of commissions, and all expenses paid, and collected at Savannah from consignees, or vessels with this guarantee.

The general satisfaction this company has given the past year to its patrons, shall not be diminished.

Merchandise should be directed to the care of the Agents of the Company.

en. His administration, in great things and small things, has been a series of brilliant victories. It has been the march of a triumphant conqueror.

His characteristic feature has been calm, cool, self-possessed consistency. No administration of the government has been able to show more dignified and more brilliant. Before it, the strong arm of opposition has been paralyzed, the intended blow has been struck. The mask has been torn from the visage of falsehood, and revealed the features in all their naked deformity. The enemy of the government has never achieved so much in pushing forward the achievements of our arms, and carrying out its judicious policy.

His republican President earned his name. He leaves the high position he has so gloriously filled to a successor to be selected by the people, but his name will live upon a page of his country's history, long after the names of his bitter revilers are lost in the darkness of the past.

Up to the latest moment, Mr. Polk was followed by the party pack, relying on the state of the country, that he would be a candidate before the National Convention for a second nomination. While the democratic party will feel that his departure to the retirement he desires will be a heavy loss to the nation, it can triumphantly point to the public course, in connection with the presidency, as a beautiful example of his being a man of his word. We lay the two following resolutions before our readers—the one written in response of the nomination by the convention of 1844, the other declining to be a candidate for reelection before the convention of 1848. Now let our tongues and federal pens be as active as they may in the work of eulogizing the people, the people will see that the President has been faithful to his word throughout; that his course has been influenced by no corrupt motives of personal ambition; that he has been fully and justly appreciated, maliciously abused, but that he has stood calm and inflexible through the storm, sustained by the unflinching conviction that, although he might be subjected to temporary obscuration, the bright sunshine of their approbation would finally beam upon him in life, and rest upon his character forever.

Proviso. In selecting him for the Vice Presidency, the Whigs have taken care, that the John Tyler game shall not be played upon them again. Gen. Taylor acknowledges, that he is ignorant of Politics, and if he was elected, who would be the government? Why Fillmore, Webster, Giddings & Co. To whom would he look for information, for advice and counsel in administering the Executive Office? To the leaders of the party, that nominated and elected him. This administration would then be as federal as the most ultra Whig could desire.

REVENUE BILL IN CHOCORKEE.

We are rejoiced for once at least, to read the Resolutions from one meeting, which did not sweep over all institutions, all law, and then close by saying that they will hold in utter contempt and derision those enforcing the Revenue Bill, when compelled to do so, under the solemn sanctions of an oath. The spirit of Republicanism reflects and thinks, mobs, eat first and think afterward. Although we do not concur with this meeting in condemning members of the Legislature who acted under mistaken notions, yet we do agree with them in hailing the made the public feel for these members, who had no choice but to either vote for no bill, or else vote for this one, with all its exceptions. This bill was reported nearly two months after the session commenced, and then from delay caused by speeches, amendments, &c., was held off until the Democrats had taken this bill or none. The Democrats had the majority, are to be held responsible for the act which is passed, and the Whigs knowing this fact, we believe went for the bill under the express intention of throwing the odium, and of breaking down the Democratic party. We lay all the blame and censure on the speaker who knew these facts, (or who should have known them), and then gave away our power to the Whigs by making the three strongest Whigs in the House, the heads of the three strongest committees through the speaker, Mr. Jamieson and his party have been enabled to saddle on the people this so much detested bill. At the head of the Judiciary Committee, was justly placed that able lawyer, A. B. Cooper, and this should have been the only appointment, but it could not be so, and so it is. Col. Young, a bitter rabbi, (although intellectual and influential Whig), must head another leading committee. We do not see what advantage it was or can be for the Democrats to have a majority, and then give away all influence to the opposite side, and yet be responsible for their acts. Our opponents are too wise, too crafty and cunning not to improve the opportunity of making their rivals, and we believe that they have accomplished their design by the bill now before the House. If the bill is really chimerical, it must hurt a Whig as much as it will a Democrat, and therefore it is to be hoped that the Democrats will not be the first to complain, but "grin and bear it."

CROTCHETS OF WHIGGERY.

Once upon a time, when Gen. Jackson was a candidate, "war, pestilence and famine," "military chieftains," "the military will soon sway the civil power," was the note of alarm sounded over the whole land by that party, and yet how shortly after with Gen. Harrison at their head they walk in the "bosoms of their illustrious predecessors!" In the last few days, what a public illustration have they made on their own precepts, by the collection of a military chieftain, with his Epaullets still upon his shoulders, and with not even a single pretension to qualification as a civilian, or Statesman! A mere power candidate to be run alone on his martial deeds, and to be passed for the President with Pate Allen, Montgomery and Buena Vista, as the "great Whigs." The Whigs present consider the collection in the latter and commoner division, which the Taylor and Clay, "reformer" summed up towards each other, with the "key" from the Philadelphia Convention was given to both the "crumbings of the 'reformer' when alluded to by 'no party' party," commenced fondling on Taylor and each other like long paraded friends. If we mistake not, this union & divided, Taylor and Anti-Taylor, Bank and Anti-Bank, Whig and Anti-Whig, War and Anti-War party, (which have no unity of feeling but a hate of Democracy) will unite, not for the success of any particular measure or principle, but that they may sit in the high places of power, just to give us another swindling Bank, to make money and a bankruptcy to make payment, when the law and other duties may require that special remedy. The Whig papers for another crocheted came out after the General's last letter, (in which he would be a candidate, with or without nomination), and proclaimed that his nomination was now impossible; that this threat should not force them, that a man who avowed himself no party man, should not be nominated by a party convention, and yet, and yet the Whigs have nominated "the man" who informed them that he would rule over the convention, and its nomination, even if that nomination fell on his friend Henry Clay.

HOME TRUTHS.

The following are extracts from the speech of the Hon. Mr. Hays, of Cincinnati, made at the Anniversary of the New York Baptist Bazaar Society.

"It seems strange to me that we scrape every cent we can reach to send the Gospel to our very poles, and forget those who come to our own land to make their lives."

"We are doing the same. Let us meet them in kindness, in philanthropy, in discussion and in truth. Should a Catholic build on one corner of my lamp, an infidel on another, and a Jew in front, when I came forth from my morning devotion, I would say God day, to each, and pray that God would bless them all. When another speaker told of the persecution of Baptists by the French King, he might have gone further—he might have told how a man rose in Paris and battled nobly and successfully for their cause, that man was a foreigner every where—it was Cromwell, the Jew—subsequently called in the Providence of God, to be Minister of Justice. It is our privilege to give all men freedom to worship God. If they are in error we may pity them but should never abuse."

But the greatest obstacle to be removed is Definite Protestantism—Evangelism congealed. Some men came to the West who had the "ador of fanaticism," who had, perhaps, been active leaders on the side of the mountains, but they had left all the Christian heat they ever had behind them—they were valiant men, but they were dead. They would step in some devoted place and set the down, the select wheat of God's harvest predestinated from all eternity to sit in their infernal laziness while the world was perishing around them. They are the fossil remains of a Pharisei's lean kind—possessed of a rigid moralism, most sufficient to step the wheels of the Almighty's chariot of mercy, and banish every ray of his glory from man."

In reference to the kind of preachers received at the West, he says:

"The education reached in from the outside, like a Thompsonian bath, is useless there. There is a cold for such preachers. Blackboard knowledge, the Latin rules, emptiness in the head, green glasses over the eyes, dyspepsia in the stomach, and a diploma in the hand, do not suit the people—they want the Scotch call 'gumption'—they want men like Ringgold's flying artillery, who know how to 'load and fire in the hottest of the fight. There is no need to wait for a church to call a pastor in the West; he can call his church himself. With a log cabin for a vestry, he can have around him a cathedral whose arches were wrought and wreathed, whose roof was adorned in the way the temples of Greece never knew—the blue sky is visible through its dome, the setting sun streams in between its pillars, and there, in a garb as simple as the sublime truths he tells, he can preach the Word of Life; there is no need of the finery in double quantity—linen under and linen over his garment—he will not want two shirts."

not unite with them, that the northern Whigs can kindly affiliate with Taylor as a slaveholder, and the Southern Whigs more than fraternize by taking Mr. Fillmore, the Tariffite of 1843, (and as the Huntsville Democrat says,) the man who voted with the abolitionists of that day in Congress. What a beautiful union of contraries, what a mingling of opposites will be seen if this union should be successful in sending forth its hybrid of Bank, Tariff, Bankruptcy, Wilnot Provisionism, and every other Anti Whig opposition to Democracy can believe or invent. Poor Henry Clay, "the great representative of Whig principles," (and who in eloquence and intellect is one of the most lofty and towering not of America, but of the world,) how must you bow before the fame of a man who is superior in intellect and civic knowledge, as he is rich in bravery and honor from his country's battle fields.

MISSIONARIES CHARGED.

Onward, onward, men of heaven;
Bearing the gospel banner high;
Rest not till the light is given—
Star of every pagan sky:
Send it where the pilgrim stranger Faints beneath the torrid ray;
Did the hardy forest-ranger Hail it, ere he fades away.

Where the Arctic Ocean thunders,

Where the tropics fiercely glow, Dreadly spread its page of wonders,
Brightly bid its radiance flow;
Tells marks its lustre stealing Shining Greenland lovers its rays:
Afric, mid her deserts kneeling,
Lifts the untamed strain of praise.

Rule in speech, or wilt in feature,

Dark is spirit, though they be,
Show that light to every creature, —Prince or peasant, bond or free:
Let them haste to every nation;
Host on host the ranks supply:
Onward! Christ is your salvation,
And your death is victory.

"DEMOCRATIC ELECTORS."

The Watchtower calls upon those gentlemen, "not to wear the honors, without participating in the labors," and gives the summons for them to be at work. We suggest, that at the present time our Elector and the Sub Electors are engaged with the Courts, as to prevent immediate compliance. Besides the Whigs have not yet appointed their Electors, and the combat will be rather lonesome, until that is done. A. J. Walker, Esq. will take the field at the proper hour, publish the appropriate notices, and the Whig Elector will find that he has need of every "fact" in that wreath.

"THE UNION."

We notice from the last Democrat, that C. C. Clay, Jr. is again to edit that paper during the session. We hail him as a strong writer, and a fierce fighter of his party, and one who is fitted to be the organ for that portion of the "average" Democracy on all sides are cheering their spirits into the past—and to will be loyal.

Every Democrat should have that paper, not only because it is one of the ablest, most intellectual and dignified of our journals, but for old Father Kitchie's sake, the veteran of our party, from Jefferson to the day. In the present contest he goes forth with his armor brightly polished, entering the field upon him as it did in the years of his glory. We would for him, that although when the contest is ended, his shield be high and his name famous, yet his arm will be the last which falls, his blow the last given and his voice the last in every strident. Rise and the Richmond Dispatch will be a part of our history.

A Camp meeting will be held at G. C. Camp

WAKING UP THE WRONG PASSENGER.

BY FALCONER.

The inexpressible penchant some people have, for poking their nasal protruberance into the affairs of others, not unfrequently costs considerably more, upon a fair average, than it comes to, as the following facts would seemingly illustrate.

The high sheriff of a small settlement in Indiana, who had arisen to that niche of official duty from the mere love of petting, knowing the law, and feeling his oats, determined to do his duty up to the hilt; and under these circumstances, he hit upon all transgressions of the statutes of his country, with the "dead set" of a possum on a June bug. Fate, an old sorrel horse, with a Yankee wagon stowed with notions, brought an adventurous son of New England out upon the atrocious high sheriff's beat, and as the sheriff was particularly pandemonium on hawkers and peddlars without license, he no sooner espied a pedlar's wagon, or a Dutchman with a pack, than he would "drop all," and board each craft bluntly. For the sake of abbreviation, we shall call the high sheriff Nickem. Nickem, one morning, saw an old sorrel hitched to a "rigger," coming up the road; so he called, and soon overhauled the wagon and contents.

"Fine morning," said Nickem, reining up his nag in front of the pedlar's wagon.

"'Tis a pretty fine, I guess, for your wooden country," said the pedlar.

"Want you got to sell, any thing?" said the sheriff.

"Gee! I have, a few notions, one sort or other. What'd you like to buy? Got some nice slick razors, and some prime straps, an article I guess you want. Squire, by look o' yer beard. And here's some rare old wine-pot blackin'—make 'em in old cow-hide boots o' yourn shine like a dollar."

"Thank you," said Nickem. "I don't use blackin' grease; better, we allow, out this way. But what's that stuff in the bottles there—is it good to take?" continued he, pointing to a lot of labelled bottles.

"Well, I guess, Squire, it is sort o' good. It's called 'Colony'; good for the 'rheum,' and cures the belly ache; all action time stuff for assistin' your human nature," as the poet says, in the affluence of his mind. And such stuff for expandin' the blood, and excitin' 'em to love, sentimentally. Knew a fellow once who took a bottle on a 4th of July and a season's ride, he made a speech, Dan'l Webster and Henry Clay got ashamed of themselves, and went clear hum! Fact, by golly!"

"What'd ye ask for it?" inquired Nickem.

"A dollar a bottle

Gen. Taylor says, he loves Mr. Clay highly—that he would prefer seeing him elected president to any body, even to himself, but still he will withdraw from the contest, even to secure the election of Mr. Clay. Verily this is friendship with a vengeance. Hear how he talks on this subject.

"I would prefer seeing Mr. Clay in the office of President to any individual in the Union; certainly more so at any time to myself."—TAYLOR LETTER TO INGER-SOLL.

"I do not design to withdraw my name, if Mr. Clay be the nominee of the Whig National Convention." GEN. TAYLOR'S LETTER TO THE RICHMOND REPUBLICAN.

WHIG NATIONAL CONVENTION.
A ship was received here yesterday evening from Augusta, announcing that Gen. Z. Taylor had been nominated by the Whig Convention the 4th ballot. The first two ballots were as follows:

Taylor,	1st.	24.
Webster,	111	114.
Clay,	22	22
Crittenden,	97	63
Scott,	4	4
McLean,	2	40

Taylor's vote on the 4th ballot is said to have been 171. Taylor will now have an opportunity of learning the difference between fighting "cowardly Mexicans" and the "unconquered" American Democracy.

CHEERING NEWS.—What can be compared to the happiness of taking a good, safe and pleasant medicine when we are very sick & finding ourselves getting well from the hour we commence taking it? We were sick, or it is, advised us to take freely of Dr. Bragg's Indian Queen Vegetable Sugar Coated Anti-Bilious Pills, which have gained such wide spread popularity. We did so and we found them to act like a Charm upon the stomach, bowels and biliary organs, on all of which their action is specific. We wish all our readers and friends to know this, and benefit by the glad tiding when sick.

Bill for Divorce.

William Foreman, } This day came
vs. } his wife, Mary Mulina Foreman, }
moved the Register for order of publication in this bill; and it appearing to the satisfaction of the Register, by affidavit on file, that the said defendant resides beyond the limits of the State of Alabama, and in the State of Mississippi, and that she is of law- ful age;—It is therefore ordered, that publication be made in the Jacksonville Republican, a newspaper published in the Town of Jacksonville, in the State of Alabama, for four consecutive weeks, notifying the said Mulina Foreman to be and appear before the Register of this Court, at his office in Jacksonville, within sixty days from the time of making this order, and plead, answer, or demur to complain- ant's bill of complaint, or the charges and specifications therein contained, with- in that time; and leave given to the complainant to take evidence ex parte. It is also ordered, that a copy of this order be posted up at the Court House door of Benton County.

HIGHLY IMPORTANT TO THE PUBLIC.

Remarkable Conversion of another Doctor to the improved Treatment of Fever and Ague, and Dilated Veins—Great efficacy of Dr. Bragg's Sugar Coated Pills for the cure of the Injection of Scurvy called a "Patent Right" derived by him!

ROCKY FORD, ARK., July 30, 1847.
DEAR SIR:—I am a physician, and have always de- sidered the promotion of science in a par- ticular. I have been a student of the "Quack Medicine," "Patent Medicines," &c., and have on former occasions tried them among my patients and family. But one of our friends brought me into this place last year, just as Fever and Ague, and Com- plicated Fever began to spread extensively among the people. There being no other Doctor in the place I could not attend to half the sick and the result was that hundreds were compelled to make trial of your Pills. I have no other to recommend.

Their efficacy in all cases was so remarkable, and so much extolled by every one, that I was induced at last to make trial of them in my own family. I have been cured of my Ague, and my wife and child are cured of their Ague. I have been cured of my Dilated Veins, and my wife and child are cured of their Dilated Veins. I have been cured of my Injection of Scurvy, and my wife and child are cured of their Injection of Scurvy. I have been cured of my Patent Right, and my wife and child are cured of their Patent Right. I have been cured of my Scurvy, and my wife and child are cured of their Scurvy. I have been cured of my Dilated Veins, and my wife and child are cured of their Dilated Veins. I have been cured of my Injection of Scurvy, and my wife and child are cured of their Injection of Scurvy. I have been cured of my Patent Right, and my wife and child are cured of their Patent Right. I have been cured of my Scurvy, and my wife and child are cured of their Scurvy. I have been cured of my Dilated Veins, and my wife and child are cured of their Dilated Veins. I have been cured of my Injection of Scurvy, and my wife and child are cured of their Injection of Scurvy. I have been cured of my Patent Right, and my wife and child are cured of their Patent Right. Another missile thrown at the ad of the Whig Party from its own ranks.

The New York Tribune of Thursday gives the convention now in session at Philadelphia the following sweet "last word":

"TAYLOR'S LAST.—We are assured that Gen.
Taylor has written a private letter, eight days later than that to the Richmond Republican, avowing that he shall continue a candidate, whether nominated by the whig convention, or not nominated. It has been seen by a member of the Kentucky delegation, who will reach for the fact if questioned."

Suppose this true—(though there are other accounts of another explanatory letter of a different character, which is to be laid before the Philadelphia convention)— how would the whig stand? We might then wish them joy of their doom and so-lusive available. How can they doubt a man of this kind, in addition to the his candid and full avowal of all the whig principles, prepared to abide so implicitly by the decision of the assembled party whose nomination he seeks. When did any party before, in any country, make so humiliating and abject a confession of weakness as even seriously to consider the claims of a candidate when so presented?

Discriminating Youth.—A gentleman traveling in Tennessee, stopped at the house for the night, and during the first meal observed an uncle pulling at a loaf of corn bread. At length the younger man marked, "Mammy, here's a hanger in the bread."

The old lady remarked that "it was only a corn silk."

"Corn silk, the mischief!" replied young man, "how come corn silk to have a nut on it?"

That boy, in our opinion, is bound some day, to fill a professorship.

Chambers Herald.

YOU WILL BE WANTED.

Take courage, young man. What if you are but a humble apprentice—a poor neglected orphan—a scold and a bye-word to the thoughtless and gay, who despise virtue in rags because of its tatters. Have you an intelligent mind all untutored though it may be? Have you a virtuous aim a pure desire and an honest heart? Depend upon it one of these days you will be wanted.
The time may be long deferred. You may grow to manhood, and you may even reach your prime, ere the call is made; but vir-tuous aims pure desires and honest hearts, are too few and sacred not to be appreciated—not to be wanted. Your virtues shall not always be hidden; your poverty shall not always wrap you about as with a mantle; obscurity shall not always veil you from the multitude. Be chivalric in your conduct with circumstances. Be ever active however small may be your sphere of action. It will surely enlarge with your merit, and your influence will have continuous increment.

"In the world's broad field of battle,
In the bivouac of life,
Be not like dumb, driven cattle—
Be a hero in the strife."

Work on, for surely you will be wanted, and then comes your reward. Lean upon the sacred virtue—"I have never seen the righteous forsaken, nor his seed begging bread." Never despair, for the lives of good men abundantly testify that often when the clouds are blackest, and the tempest is fiercest, and hope is faintest, a "still small voice" will be heard saying, "Come hither, ye who are wanted," and all your powers will find employment. Therefore, take heart, young man, for ere long you will be wanted.

TIME ABOUT.

Two Yankees were strolling in the woods without any arms in their possession, and observing a bear ascending a tree, with its large paws clung round the trunk, one of them ran forward and caught the bear's paws, one in each hand. He instantly called out to his comrade:

"Jonathan, I say, go home and bring me something as fast as you can, till I kill the varmint. Mind, don't stay, for I'm in a fix."

Jonathan ran off as fast as he could, but was an exceedingly long time returning.
During the time the bear had made several desperate attempts to bite the hands of him who held it. At length Jonathan came back.

"Halloo, Jonathan, what the deuce has kept you?"

"Well, I'll tell you," replied Jonathan:
"when I got home breakfast was about ready, and I guessed it would be as well to wait for it."

"Here now, Jonathan," said his comrade,
"come you and hold it, and I'll kill the critter in a jiffy."

Jonathan seized the bear's paws, and held the animal while the other could kill
it.

"Well, Jonathan, have you got hold of him?"

"I guess I have," replied Jonathan.
"Very well, hold him fast; I guess I'll go to dinner!"

SALE OF A RAILROAD.—The Vicksburg Jackson Railroad, says the Concordia Intelligencer, has now become well entitled to one part of its name. It is now surely enough, the Jackson Railroad, having been surrendered to Mr. Washington Jackson, who purchased it at Sheriff's sale some months ago. The debt for which the road was originally $15,000, which the road was once sold at a bankrupt sale for $9,000. And for this debt this profitable railroad, which clears $75,000 a year over all expenses, has been surrendered!

There was no alternative. Mr. Jackson had given the bank that originally owned it a stipulation to redeem the road by refunding him his purchase money; and effort to that effect has been made without success. The time has elapsed and he has taken formal possession.

We heard a good anecdote the other day of an old Methodist preacher who rode this circuit a few years ago. While going to one of his appointments, he met an old acquaintance, who was one of the magistrates of the county. He asked the preacher why he didn't do as his Savior did—ride an ass.
"Because," said the divine, "the people have taken them all to make magistrates."
